

What are cookies?

Customs Support Group may collect and analyse information on the use of the Website by means of a cookie. A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers and stored on your computer or mobile device when visiting the Website.

Which cookies?

Customs Support Group may store the following cookies:

Strictly necessary cookies

Strictly necessary cookies are cookies that are essential for you as a Website visitor. Without strictly necessary cookies, it would not be possible for you to navigate around the Website and to use the different features. Consent is not required for the placement of strictly necessary cookies.

Functional cookies

Functional cookies are cookies that enable you to customize the Website to its needs and preferences. If you choose to return to the Website at another given time, the functional cookies will recognize that you have visited the Website before. Consent is not required for the placement of functional cookies.

Analytical cookies, also referred to as 'performance cookies'

Analytical cookies are necessary to help us provide you with a better user experience, as the information we receive via the placement of analytical cookies enables us to optimize our services and the features and performance of the Website. Consent is not required for the placement of analytical cookies, if these analytical cookies are anonymized, meaning that the IP-address must be anonymized.

If the analytical cookies are not anonymized, we must ask for your consent prior to the placement of non-anonymized analytical cookies.

Advertising or targeting cookies

Advertising or targeting cookies allows our business partners to provide you with customized advertising. We may only place advertising cookies after receiving your consent. You can also permit or prevent the use of cookies by changing the settings of your browser.

The use of cookies

Cookies can allow us to distinguish you from other Website users, which helps Customs Support Group to improve Website and to provide you with a good experience when you browse the Website. Cookies can also authorise other designated Websites to recognise you for a particular purpose.
